Gov. Hoard, of Wisconsin, appears to have put a quietus on prize fighting in that state also. This, if nothing more, should entitle him to another term.

And now John L. Sullivan wants to go to congress. With a prison cell staring a man in the face, most any one would prefer a seat in the legislative halls of the nation.

If we remember rightly the gilded palaces of sin were allowed to remain in this city if they would move off Laurel street to a certain locality.
They haven't moved to any great extent.

The Crookston Times bewails the fact that its fire department is so efficient, and claims that if it were otherwise brick buildings would adorn the spots where tumble-down wooden buildings now stand.

It is now claimed that Steve Brodie did not go over Niagara Falls but sent a dummy over in his place and that he was dropped in the water behind the whirlpool. There are some notorious frauds in the country including the late lamented Grover.

Free trade would do away with labor strikes and all trouble between employer and employee—says what some people claimed during a recent campaign. In the home of free trade two hundred thousand laborers have been out on a strike during the past week.—Northfield News.

The prison physician at Stillwater makes a statement to the effect that Bob Younger is not dying and that the announcement published has not the slightest foundation. Some overzealous friend has been instrumental in getting these articles published to work up a sentiment for his release.
When either of the Youngers leave Stillwater it should be with death has claimed them and not before.

If the government will not see that the Indians are kept on the reservation the residents of the surrounding country should take the matter in hand themselves. The white men in this country have stood the numance long enough. Indians can leave their reservation, kill and drive the game all of the country, raise disturbances, cause the arrest of white men—generally and go Scott free thereafter. The people of Northern Minnesota have stood the nuisance and held their patience as long as possible and further submission will cease to be a virtue. Do you suppose if a white man had raised the racket that the red skinned Wadena did that he would have been allowed to go without a heavy fine?—Well hardly.

How is this, Bro. Stivers?
England, the champion free trade country, is plastered all over with tariffs. In this country they have succeeded but poorly. In fact they can hardly be said to have succeeded at all, for they have not yet been long enough established to become fixed, and the popular sentiment against them is so strong that the weaker ones are falling to pieces of their own accord and stringent legislation is believed evoked against the more powerful. We do not include in this category the Standard Oil Trust, which is more exactly a monopoly than a trust. That is to say, its owners control all the natural sources of supply, and certainly its control is entirely independent of and can not be changed by any alterations of the tariff. The great wool, cotton, and steel manufacturing interests, which are supposed to be especially favored by the high tariff, have always bitterly opposed any plan of a trust, believing that, with reasonable tariff protection, competition at home would be best for the country at large and therefore for individual producers.—

Around the State.

All but two of the Cass lake band of Chippewa Indians have signed the treaty.

J. W. Reynolds, editor of The Herman Enterprise, has sued County Auditor Sanford for libel, laying his damages at $10,000. The suit is the outcome of a bitter newspaper controversy which has been going on for some time between the parties.

John Thies, a prominent farmer of Cold Springs, while threshing was caught in the machine and had his leg so badly mutilated as to necessitate amputation. He may die.

Hastings new linen mill will begin operations the coming week.
Burglars have been making good heads at Stillwater.

Lambert Lenz of Melrose was examined in the probate court at St.
Cloud and committed to the insane asylum.

Burglars went through several stores at Kasson and stole between $200 and $300 worth in goods and money.

A strolling car visited Elk River last week seeking signatures asking congress not to pass stringent Sunday laws.

John Donnelly, of Morris, a brother of Hon. Ignatius Donnelly, of Hastings, died of cholera morbus.

The Indian Goes Free.

A special from Princeton brings the news that the case of the State vs.
Wadena was given to the jury at 11:20 a. m. Tuesday, and a verdict of not guilty was rendered at 3:40 p. m.

The verdict is a surprise to the people of the county, the preponderance of evidence, such as it was, was in favor of Wadena. Three straightforward, intelligent, honest white men gave testimony that was true beyond a doubt or cavil, but the testimony of four worthless gamblers of the Mille Laes tribe was considered as superior, and Wadena was discharged.

Sees One Side Only.

The national debt increased more than seven million dollars during the month of August. We begin to see why the republicans were so anxious for high tariff. That surplus in the treasury is vanishing with startling rapidity.—Brainerd Journal.

The above item in the Journal of yesterday shows how eagerly its editor watches for a chance to vent his democratic doctrines upon the public, and how totally ignorant he actually is upon the subject he has tackled.
Bro. Stivers said that item in some democratic paper and made the above editorial mention, but failed to see the denial that followed by Secretary Windom, to the effect that the public debt was decreased during that time to the extent of $20,910,180 instead of increased $7,000,000, which is quite a difference. The conclusion, erroneous as it was, that the debt had been increased, arose from the form of the monthly statement issued by the department, and Mr. Windom explains the matter as follows:

"By this form any increase of the cash in the treasury shows an apparent decrease of the debt, and disburdening for any purpose, other than the purchase of bonds at par value, show an apparent increase of the public debt, equal to the amount of such disbursements. The facts during the last two months exactly correspond to this, and the actual reduction of the debt was $20, 910,180, the 'debt statement' showed an average increase of $7,000,003. The largely increased purchases of bonds for the sinking fund during the last two months over the corresponding months of last year show an increase in the premium paid of $2,575,926.
All these things figure in the last debt statement as an increase in the public debt, while in reality they have nothing to do with it. I can readily see how an honest misapprehension may arise from the form of the monthly statement and therefore have taken the trouble to make this explanation."

Bro. Stivers could have found this statement in any of the daily papers, but his ideas on the tariff have not been blinded by the fact that he can see but one side of national affairs. It is peculiar with what "staggering rapidity" that surplus is vanishing.

The Globe pays the following tribute to the memory of S. S. Cox: For more than thirty years Mr. Cox has been a prominent figure in national affairs, and yet during that time the breath of scandal never touched his fair name. God never made a more honest man nor one more useful. He was the friend of humanity, and he was one of the few men who attain public station to adorn it with their generous deeds.
Although one of the most brilliant orators in congress, and a man of superior culture and acquirements, Mr. Cox did not seek to win fame for himself by his oratory or by an exhibition of his learning. He preferred to devote his time and his talents to things that would be of public utility and have a permanent value. Among the many proud monuments of his public life that he has left behind him, there will be none to reflect more lustre on his memory than the life-saving service, of which he was the originator and the consistent champion. He was authority on all census matters, and any suggestion that he made in regard to the preparation of a census bill was accepted by congress without any sort of question. He believed ardently in the expansive principle of the republic, and was always numbered among the foremost advocates of the admission of new states. By his individual effort, more than all other influences, the four new states from the Northwest were added to the national banner. This was the last and crowning achievement of his long and useful public life. He was looking forward to his term in the next congress as affording him an opportunity to secure more liberal appropriations for the improvement of the national park in the Yellowstone basin. He had been one of the earliest advocates of setting apart this territory for park purposes, and always gave a warm support to every measure that provided for its improvement. During the recent summer he passed through this city on an extended visit to the park and to the river, and he was heartily back home bubbling with enthusiasm over the glories of the great Northwest. But death has intervened to take our friend from us. His eloquent lips are closed, and the warmest heart that ever beat in the breast of mortal is stilled forever.

A Marvelous Calf.

Adam Sell, a farmer of Schuyler county, Ill., is the possessor of a curiosity in the way of a newly born calf of marvelous form and figure.
The animal is only half the ordinary size, and its hide is entirely destitute of hair, the skin being of a pink color and smooth as the back of a Mexican dog. Instead of having hoofs like other animals of its kind, its feet are formed of five distinct toes that have claws at the end like those of a cat.
The creature's ears are exceedingly small, in fact hardly visible. The face resembles that of a monkey, and from the lower jaw project two fangs.
The animal is exceedingly intelligent, and follows its owner about the lot, and gives every evidence of affection.
Unable to bawl like an ordinary calf, yet it is able to make a noise similar to that of a dumb person endeavoring to speak. Some people who have examined the queer freak feel confident that in time it will be able to talk at least as well as a parrot. Mr. Sell has already been offered a big sum for the animal, but refuses to part with it at any price.

Postage stamps will soon be changed both in size and color. The one cent stamp will be ultra-marine blue; four cent, chocolate; light brown; six cent, vermilion; ten cent, melon green; fifteen cent, steel blue; thirty cent, black; ninety cent, orange; and the old one cent will be cut down about one third smaller and be of a metallic red or carmine color.

Match Game of Cricket Between Brainerd and Como.

The return match game between the N. P. C. C. of Brainerd and the N. P.
C. C. of Como was played on Saturday last on the ground of the latter at Hamline, and, after a very pleasant game, resulted in a victory for Brainerd by 21 runs. The captain of the Como team won the toss and put Brainerd in bat, and N. W. Wheatley and J. Gardiner commenced the batting to the bowling of Nicholson and Coverdale, but were not very long together. Gardiner being bowled by Nicholson, and the 3 following wickets fell in quick succession, 4 wickets for the cost of 13 runs, which looked very cloudy for Brainerd. At this moment Peter Poy reversed the order of the game, compiling a brilliant 21 before he succumbed to Nicholson. From this to the close of the innings it was very quiet, although J. Clark and C.
Crust gave the Como boys a little trouble before they were disposed of, and the innings eventually closed for 59. Then came the time for the Como boys to do their work with the bat, but the bowling of the Brainerd team was too good for them, especially W.
D. McKay, he alone taking 6 wickets, and the final innings of Como closed for 29, or 30 runs behind the Brainerd score. In the second innings the Brainerd men were not quite so successful with the bat, their innings closing for the total of 39, but the Comos, as will be seen by the score, improved in their batting and made a much better score. Thus the game ended, as stated above.

After the game dinner was served and an elegant spread was prepared, twenty-eight setting down and doing ample justice to the good things provided. The cricketers again returned to the cricket grounds, and, at the suggestion of the Como men, commenced another game, they thinking they might retrieve their lost laurels, but it proved a soft snap for Brainerd.
This game was called at 3 p. m., and the Comos batted first and were all dispersed for the small total of 21.
N. W. Wheatley and J. Gardiner again opened the batting for Brainerd, and before they were parted the score had reached 38. Then Gardiner got caught at cover point for a carefully played eight. Wheatley still being left to bat. C. Collis here took the bat, and another good stand was made.
Collis played carefully and with great coolness, but Como got tired and drew stumps. N. W. Wheatley deserves special mention for the admirable way in which he made the handsome score of 35 and not out. Thus ended a very pleasant game, and also a pleasant day, which will be remembered by the Brainerd C. C. for the kind manner in Gov. Hoard, of Wisconsin, appears to have put aquietus on prize fighting in that state also. This, if nothing more, should entitle him to another term.

And now John L. Sullivan wants to go to congress. With a prison cell staring a man in the face, most any one would prefer a seat in the legislative halls of the nation.

If we remember rightly the gilded palaces of sin were allowed to remain in this city if they would move off Laurel street to a certain locality. They haven't moved to any great extent.

The Crookston Times bewails the fact that its fire department is so efficient, and claims that it is more otherwise brick blocks would adorn the spots where tumble-down wooden buildings now stand.

It is now claimed that Steve Brodie did not go over Niagara Falls but sent a dummy over in his place and that he was dropped in the water below the whirlpool. There are some notorious frauds in the country including the late lamented Grover.

FREE trade would do away with labor strikes and all trouble between employer and employee—was what some people claimed during a recent campaign. In the home of free trade two hundred thousand laborers have been out on a strike during the past week.—Northfield News.

The prison physician at Stillwater made a statement to the effect that Bob Younger is not dying and that the announcement published has not the slightest foundation. Some overzealous friend has been instrumental in getting these articles published to work up a sentiment for his release. When either of the Youngers leave Stillwater it should be when death has claimed them and not before.

If the government will not see that the Indians are kept on the reservation the residents of the surrounding country should take the matter in hand themselves. The white men in this country have stood the nuisance long enough. Indians can leave their reservation, kill and drive the game all out of the country, raise disturbances, cause the arrest of white men for selling them liquor and raise hell generally and go Scott free themselves. The people of Northern Minnesota have stood the nuisance and held their patience as long as possible and further submission will cease to be a virtue. Do you suppose if a white man had raised the racket that the red skinned Wadena did, that he would have been allowed to go without a heavy fine?—well hardly.

England, the champion free trade union, is plastered all over with trusts. In this country they have succeeded but poorly. In fact they can hardly be said to have succeeded at all, for they have not yet been long enough established to become fixed, and the popular sentiment against them is so strong that the weaker ones are falling to pieces of their own accord and stringent legislation is being evoked against the more powerful. We do not include in this category the Standard Oil Trust, which is more exactly a monopoly than a trust. That is to say, its owners control all the natural sources of supply, and certainly its control is entirely independent of and can not be changed by any alterations of the tariff. The great wool, cotton, and steel manufacturing interests, which are supposed to be especially favored by the high tariff, have always bitterly opposed any plan of a trust, believing that, with reasonable tariff protection, competition at home would be best for the country at large and therefore for individual producers.—Boston Advertiser.

Adam Sell, a farmer of Schuyler county, Ill., is the possessor of a curiosity in the way of a newly born calf of marvelous form and figure. The animal is only half the ordinary size, and its hide is entirely destitute of hair, the skin being of a pink color and smooth as the back of a Mexican dog. Instead of having hoofs like other animals of its kind, its feet are formed of five distinct toes that are claws at the end like a those of a cat. The creature's ears are exceedingly small, in fact hardly visible. The face resembles that of a monkey, and from the lower jaw project two fangs. The animal is exceedingly intelligent, and follows its owner about the lot, and gives every evidence of affection. Unable to make an ordinary calf, yet it is able to make a noise similar to that of a dumb person endeavoring to speak. Some people who have examined the queer freak feel confident that in time it will be able to talk at least as well as a parrot. Mr. Sell has already been offered a big sum for the animal, but refuses to part with it at any price.

Sees One Side Only.
The national debt increased more than a million dollars during the month of August. We begin to see why the republicans were so anxious for high tariff. That surplus in the treasury is vanishing with startling rapidity.—Brainerd Journal.

The above item in the Journal of yesterday shows how eagerly its editor watches for a chance to vent his democratic doctrines upon the public, and how totally ignorant he actually is upon the subject. He tackled Bro. Stivers with that item in some democratic paper and made the above editorial mention, but failed to see the denial that followed by Secretary Windom, to the effect that the public debt was decreased during that time to the extent of $20,910,180 instead of increased $7,000,000, which is quite a difference. The conclusion, erroneous as it was, that the debt had been increased, arose from the form of the monthly statement issued by the department, and Mr. Windom explains the matter as follows:

"By this form any increase of the cash in the treasury shows an apparent decrease of the debt, and disbursements for any purpose, other than the purchase of bonds at par value, show an apparent increase of the public debt, equal to the amount of such disbursements. The facts during the last two months exactly correspond to this, and though the actual reduction of the debt was $20,910,180, the 'debt statement' showed an average increase of $7,000,000. The largely increased purchases of bonds for the sinking fund during the last two months over the corresponding months of last year show an increase in the premium paid of $2,575,926. All these things figure in the last debt statement as an increase in the public debt, while in reality they touched the surplus to which it can readily see how an honest misapprehension may arise from the form of the monthly statement and therefore have taken the trouble to make this explanation.

Bro. Stivers could have found this statement in any of the daily papers, but his ideas on the tariff have so blinded his vision that he can see but one side of national affairs. It is peculiar with what 'staggering rapidity' that surplus is vanishing.

The Globe says the following tribute to the memory of S. S. Cox:

For more than thirty years Mr. Cox had been a prominent figure in national affairs, and yet during that time time the breath of scandal never touched his fame. He was a man of more than liberal appropriations for the foremost advocates of the admission of new states. By his individual effort, more than all other influences, the four new stars from the Northwest were added to the national banner. This was the last and crowning achievement of his long and useful public life. He was looking forward to his term in the next congress as affording him an opportunity to secure liberal appropriations for the improvement of the national park in the Yellowstone basin. He had been one of the earliest advocates of setting apart this territory for public purposes, and always gave a warm support to every measure that provided for its improvement. During the recent summer he passed through this city on an extended visit to the park and back home bubbling with enthusiasm over the glories of the great Northwest. But death has intervened to take our friend from us. His eloquent lips are closed, and the earnest heart that ever beat in the breast of mortal is stilled forever.

A Marvelous Calf.

The return match game between the N. P. C. C. of Brainerd and the N. P. C. C. of Como was played on Saturday last on the ground of the latter at Hamline, and, after a very pleasant game, resulted in a victory for Brainerd by 21 runs. The captain of the Como team won the toss and put Brainerd to bat, and N. W. Wheatley and J. Gardner commenced the batting to the bowling of Nicholson and Coverdale, but were not very long together, Gardner being bowled by Nicholson, and the 3 following wickets fell in quick succession, 4 wickets for the cost of 13 runs, which looked very costly for Brainerd. At this moment Peter Pow reversed the order of the game, compelling a brilliant 21 before he succumbed to Nicholson. From this to the close of the innings it was very quiet, although J. Clark and C. Crust gave the Como boys a little trouble before they were disposed of, and the innings eventually closed for 59. Then came the time for the Como boys to do their work with the bat, but the bowling of the Brainerd team was too good for them, especially W. D. McKay, he alone taking 6 wickets, and the first innings of Como closed for 29, or 30 runs behind the Brainerd score. In the second innings the Brainerd men were not quite so successful with the bat, their innings closing for the total of 39, but the Comoes, as will be seen by the score, improved in their batting and made a much better score. Thus the game ended, as stated above.

After the game dinner was served and an elegant spread was prepared, twenty-eight setting down and doing ample justice to the good things provided. The cricketers again returned to the cricket grounds, and, at the suggestion of the Como men, commenced another game, they thinking they might retrieve their lost laurels, but it proved a soft snap for Brainerd. This game was called at 3 p. m., and the Comoes batted first and were all dispersed for the small total of 21. N. W. Wheatley and J. Gardner again opened the batting for Brainerd, and before they were parted the score had reached 38. Then Gardner got caught at cover point for a carefully played eight, Wheatley still being left to bat. C. Collis here took the bat, and another good stand was made. Collis played carefully and with great coolness, but Como got tired and drew stumps. N. W. Wheatley deserves special mention for the admirable way in which he made the handsome score of 55 and not out. This ended a very pleasant game, and also a pleasant day, that will long be remembered by the Brainerd C. C. for the kind manner in which they were entertained by the Como C. C.
